

Pisgah Spotlight

Caring Teachers

Like many other first-timers, a little three year old boy was nervous about preschool.

Suddenly, a new substitute teacher saw that adorable, tearstained toddler's face, walked right over and picked him up and the tears immediately stopped. And so began the tender and inspiring journey of Jeanne Harris at Pisgah.

What started out as a day of substitute teaching has turned into more than 17 years of loving service by "Miss Jeanne" to Pisgah children and their families. When asked what make this school such a special place, smiling brightly Miss Jeanne explains, "God's presence here is what sets us apart. God is not just welcomed here, He is embraced."
